

Bold Lessons for Leaders of Today

Presentation Description

Taking from over twenty-five years of experience, this Latina demonstrates the results of personally pursuing a call to establish a training & development business to empower parents of “at-risk” students, while keeping the raising of her children a priority. Today, having successfully raised two daughters, she empowers audiences with insights about the power of following one’s call to serve and its influence on leadership.

Bringing a fresh, new voice to ancient wisdom, the presenter guides the audience to explore and connect with the courageous, true leader within. Participants take a break from their intellectual side as she recounts her personal journey, and reconnect to their innate capacity to lead. They awaken on a different level, inspired to rise above fears and complacency and emerge as more effective, enthusiastic, empowered leaders.

Objectives
